

REV GROUP FIRE DIVISION PARTNERS WITH ZERO RPM ON IDLE MITIGATION SYSTEM SPECIFICALLY ENGINEERED FOR E-ONE, FERRARA AND KME

May. 9th, 2018

OCALA, Fla.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--REV Group, Inc. (REV), a leading designer, manufacturer and distributor of specialty vehicle brands, has announced a partnership with Zero RPM to provide cities and counties with a proven sustainable approach for auxiliary power on the fire ground or during a rescue situation. The partnership is specifically engineered for E-One, Ferrara and KME fire trucks.

The idle mitigation system is designed to reduce engine wear, scene noise, while also promoting firefighter comfort without running the vehicle's engine.

The benefits of the Idle Mitigation System include:

- Operates in complete silence
- Reduces fuel consumption
- Requires no maintenance
- Results in less frequent engine oil changes
- Results in less wear on power train due to reduced idle time
- Powers optional HVAC system to keep cab cool

Jay Johnson, Vice President of Product Management, Marketing, & After-Market at REV Group's Fire Division states, "By partnering with Zero RPM, we are able to provide cities and counties with a proven sustainable approach for auxiliary power on the fire ground or during a rescue situation. The benefits are beyond compelling not only in terms of improved apparatus wear and firefighter comfort but equally so with reduced emissions for the environment."
