

AMERICAN COACH OFFERS RVERS RESORT-STYLE LIVING WHEREVER THEY ROAM

Apr. 12th, 2023

DECATUR, IN, April 12, 2023 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- For those exploring the possibility of becoming full-time RVerS, one common question or concern can be sacrificing some amenities which they are accustomed to at home.

Becoming a full-time RVer doesn't mean you have to give up 'at home' amenities at all. At American Coach, for example, our coaches are made for whatever adventure RVerS may have in mind. Several American Coach floor plans, including the American Dream® 39RK and 45D and American Eagle® 45E, come equipped with American Coach's luxurious, spacious kitchen island design, which was developed with full-timers or resort living in mind.

The kitchen island in the middle of the coach is perfect for RVerS who like to set up for an extended stay. With a layout that's perfect for entertaining and providing impressive amounts of extra storage, having the American Coach kitchen island can make the RV feel even more like home and provide an extra level of comfort. In addition, the ingenuity in the floor plan design means RVerS can still access the half-bath at the middle of the coach and the bed when the slides are in and the coach is in motion. This makes it a great floor plan for families on the go or those who want to spread out and stay awhile.

Some people choose to stay in permanent RV parks because of how budget-friendly it is compared with renting or owning a home. Becoming a full-time RVer is also a great way to meet new people and explore more of nature – all of which makes finding the right long-term RV resort essential. There are different types of long-term RV parks offering monthly, seasonal, and annual parking plans.
